BRIEF INTRODUCTION

INTRODUCTION

The University of Finance and Economics of Mongolia is one of the oldest higher education institutions in the country. Within a period of only 100 years, it has advanced from a vocational accounting college to a progressive and leading university in Mongolia. The university was built upon the work of those men and women who studied and taught here, and on the network of alumni, friends, and partners who support its teaching and learning activities in many crucial ways. Some of Mongolia's most influential economists, bankers and politicians have been nurtured here. Truly, the University of Finance and Economics is one of Mongolia's most prestigious universities.

The university is currently operating with over 300 faculty members and staff and over 6000 undergraduate and graduate students. To continue as a progressive and entrepreneur university, we are dedicated to bringing inspiring people together to change Mongolia. Most importantly, we are open to the world.
